Sampling and sorting? Simple as this...!

Samples taken by national approved sampling equipment- and instructions.

All samples that are taken is sorted 100% for further registration.

For many people unknown species are found during sorting

A Third Party surveillance for the benefit of:

- Transparency
- Credibility
- Trust
- Potential disagreements with your customers will be minimized.

Your obligations:

- Think differently
- Accept standardized procedures

FAO (UN) also secures transparency by the service of Third Part Solutions

Third Part surveillance

"THE SKAGEN WAY"

- All pelagic landings are monitored down to the smallest detail
- All quantities landed are weighed on approved calibrated scales
- Species are sorted according to national regulations
- All results are shared with involved parties including authorities
- Data from Danish vessels are shared with scientists

Danish actors FF Skagen and Scandic Pelagic creating transparency – not just talking about it...

That makes me proud as an independent surveyor and as a civilian knowing that marine resources are registered as they are supposed to be...
